

Its function is collect energy from the sun to make food.

Its function is transports water through the plant.

Its function is absorbs water to feed the plant.

Its function is attract pollinators such as butterflies and bees.

INSTRUCTIONS:
Write the correct label of each part of the plant and then match with a line the correct definitions for each one.

Acts as protection for newly formed leaves.