On a typical day, in the morning, I get up before 6 o'clock because I had to take the bus at 7 o'clock. It takes about 45 minutes to get to the company where I work. I usually get dressed and then I start working. The environment is nice : big open spaces with lots of plants and big desks and a large view over a lake, which is quite surprising because people often prefer not so pleasant offices with grey walls and small desks and a view over a car park or a factory. So, yes, that is a really nice place to work. I have been working for that company.
