The Life of Pi is a fantasy adventure novel by the Canadian novelist Yann Martel. It tells the story of a teenage boy called Pi. The first part of the book is about Pi's childhood in Pondicherry, India. His father owns a zoo there, and Pi (who is very keen on animals) learns a lot about them. In the second part of the novel, his family take a Japanese ship to America together with their animals. The ship sinks in a storm and Pi finds himself in a tiny lifeboat with a tiger called Richard Parker and three other animals in the middle of the Pacific Ocean. Although Pi is scared, he asks himself, 'What can I do to survive?' There is food, water and wood in the lifeboat and he makes a raft. Pi realises that if he can train Richard Parker, he will be able to survive. So Pi trains the tiger and has lots of extraordinary adventures before finally reaching a beach in Mexico, 227 days after the storm.
