Salim's last summer holiday started at the end of May. He and his parents went to Masirah Island. They got there by boat. The boat was very nice. They spent their time reading books and magazines, listening to music and looking through the window. They arrived at 7:30 in the evening. They stayed in a nice hotel near the beach. The room was very big with three beds. Next day, they went to the beach. Salim met some boys and they became friends. They swam in the sea. After that, they played volleyball on the beach. His father played with them. His mother sat under the umbrella and read a book. It was a fantastic holiday. Salim dreams of going there again.
