

THE DAWN OF HOROLOGY

TASK 1: Read the text – Action 11, p61

TASK 2: True/False/Doesn't say

- | | | | |
|---|----------------------------------|----------------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| 1 In Ancient Rome, the day hours were longer in summer. | <input type="button" value="T"/> | <input type="button" value="F"/> | <input type="button" value="DS"/> |
| 2 The Romans didn't use units smaller than an hour. | <input type="button" value="T"/> | <input type="button" value="F"/> | <input type="button" value="DS"/> |
| 3 Horologia were only used to track time during the day. | <input type="button" value="T"/> | <input type="button" value="F"/> | <input type="button" value="DS"/> |
| 4 The Romans used a celestial body to tell the time. | <input type="button" value="T"/> | <input type="button" value="F"/> | <input type="button" value="DS"/> |
| 5 The Romans didn't invent any timekeeping devices. | <input type="button" value="T"/> | <input type="button" value="F"/> | <input type="button" value="DS"/> |
| 6 Timekeeping was important for regulating the military in Rome. | <input type="button" value="T"/> | <input type="button" value="F"/> | <input type="button" value="DS"/> |
| 7 Time keeping devices from the Roman era still survive to the present day. | <input type="button" value="T"/> | <input type="button" value="F"/> | <input type="button" value="DS"/> |
| 8 Some modern timekeeping terminology is based on Roman language. | <input type="button" value="T"/> | <input type="button" value="F"/> | <input type="button" value="DS"/> |

TASK 3: Make up 2 questions to the text with no grammar and spelling mistakes.