

[Grammar]

Read the sentences. Notice how the sentences are joined together.

We should not call people names. We should not be rude to them.
We should neither call people names nor be rude to them.

~~We should not call people names.~~

~~We should not be rude to them.~~

We should neither call people names nor be rude to them.

Read the sentences. Notice how the sentences are joined together.

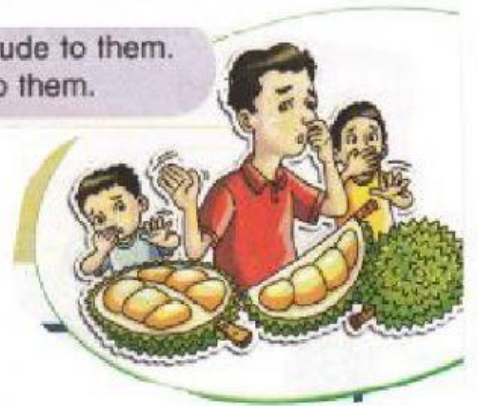

We should not call people names. We should not be rude to them.
We should neither call people names nor be rude to them.

~~Mr Zhao does not like durians.~~

~~The children do not like durians.~~

Neither Mr Zhao nor the children like durians.

Join the pairs of sentences using neither...nor

Practise

- 1 He can't speak English. He can't write English.

- 2 This book is not interesting. It is not useful.

- 3 James did not pass the test. Peter did not pass the test.

- 4 He does not attend the class regularly. He does not learn his lessons regularly.

- 5 She has not eaten anything in two days. She hasn't slept in two days.

- 6 He should not pick the flowers. He should not dirty the park.