

Read the text. Choose one of the variants

Get informed about the way of life of the Brits. Everyone in the UK speaks English, but some speak language as well. British food is not the best in the world, but there are a lot of good restaurants in London food from many countries. A British family doesn't often go out dinner, but when a man and a woman wants to get to know each other better, a restaurant is sometimes the best place to meet.

Most British people take a holiday in July or August and go to the country. There is still some beautiful open countryside in Britain, with lovely valleys full of and peaceful lakes and hills. When people are holiday, they like just sitting the sun, but some others want a bit more. "Special interest" holidays are very popular, and you can find a hundred interesting things to do in Britain.

