

The female reproductive system

Label the female reproductive system using the vocabulary in the box.

the right fallopian tube	the uterus	the right ovary
endometrium		an ovum (egg)
the cervix	the left fallopian tube	the vagina

If you can't find the answers in your classbook, try the blog!

Complete the sentences with the vocabulary in the box below. Use your book and tablet to help you if necessary.

FERTILISED	DISSOLVE	BABY
OVARIES	VAGINA	COMPRESSES
MENSTRUATION	UTERUS	EIGHT
ENDOMETRIUM	OVUM	FALLOPIAN

Hormones make the _____ begin preparing an _____ around every 28 days. The ovum travels down the _____ tube. This process takes around 2 days.

As the egg travels down the tube, the endometrium, the special material inside the _____, begins to grow and get thicker.

The endometrium is preparing to grow a _____ egg into a _____.

If the ovum (egg) is not fertilised, it starts to _____. The endometrium needs to be cleaned or it can't support a baby. This cleaning process is called _____.

Tampons and _____ are used to catch the blood as it leaves the _____. Compresses need to be changed at least every few hours. Tampons must be changed after no more than _____ hours.