Julian: Ok, Natalie, what do we need to buy? Let's make a shopping list.

Natalie: Right. Well, do we have any milk in the fridge?

Julian: Let me see. Yes, we have two bottles of milk, but no yoghurt.

Natalie: Then, we need four pots of yoghurt. How about some vegetables? Tomatoes and cucumbers and some celery, and lettuce. I want to make a salad.

Julian: What about some garlic and onions?

Natalie: I know you love them in the salad, but I don't. Anyway, we can buy some. We also need two loaves of fresh bread. I love fresh crusty bread! Mmm... And do you remember you promised to make a cherry pie for today's dinner?

Julian: Yes, I do. I know it's your favourite. But we have to buy everything for it. So, we need some flour, eggs and butter.

Natalie: Are there any cherries for the pie?

Julian: There are a few apples but no cherries. We need a kilo, I think.

Natalie: Good. Did you look in the freezer for ice cream?

Julian: There isn't any vanilla but there is some chocolate ice cream.

Natalie: You should get a tub of vanilla ice cream. It goes best with cherry pie.

Julian: Really? OK, I trust you. So, it's a long shopping list.

Natalie: It's good to make a list, so we don't forget anything. Let's go then.
