Alice in Wonderland

Fairy tales are usually short stories for children. They aren't true stories. They are often about things that can't happen in real life. Children love them and parents usually enjoy them too.

The characters in fairy tales are often princes and princesses, giants (عمالقة / ענקים) or kings and queens. Not all fairy tales have fairies or magic in them. Sometimes fairy tales are about animals that can talk. The heroes in fairy tales are usually good and brave characters. They are also beautiful or good-looking (جميلون، وسماء / נאים). The villains are the bad characters and are often ugly. Fairy tales often begin with the words "Once upon a time" and usually have a happy ending.

Many years ago, people told (حكوا / סיפרו) fairy tales – they didn't write them in books. There are many fairy tales that people tell around the world. They have the same plot, but the characters have different names.

Write true or false

1. Fairy tales are usually short stories for children
2. Parents like to read fairy tales to their children.
3. Fairy tales are stories about real life.
4. Heroes are usually beautiful or good-looking.

Five children and "it"

FIVE CHILDREN AND IT

Book Review by Amira

This story is about five brothers and sisters. They live in England. The children move from the big city of London to a small town. The writer tells about the children's adventures in their new home.

One day they find a sad fairy called "It". "It" must (חייב / يجب عليك) give them a wish every day and make the wish come true. But "It" has a problem: the wishes never work. So "It" tells them to stop asking for wishes.

This book is really funny and I enjoyed it a lot. I liked the ending. I recommend it to all my friends.

"Peter and the wolf"

Peter and the Wolf

Once upon a time a young boy named Peter lived with his grandfather in a small house near a forest. The house had a beautiful garden with many trees and flowers in it.

Early every morning, Peter's grandfather says, "Peter, remember you must (يجب عليك / חייב) stay in the garden. It isn't safe in the forest. There's a wolf! Don't forget that the wolf is dangerous. It can eat you!"

Peter and his three friends – the bird, the duck and the cat – listen to Peter's grandfather. They stay in the garden every day. What do they do? They run around in the sun and play games. They don't go into the forest.

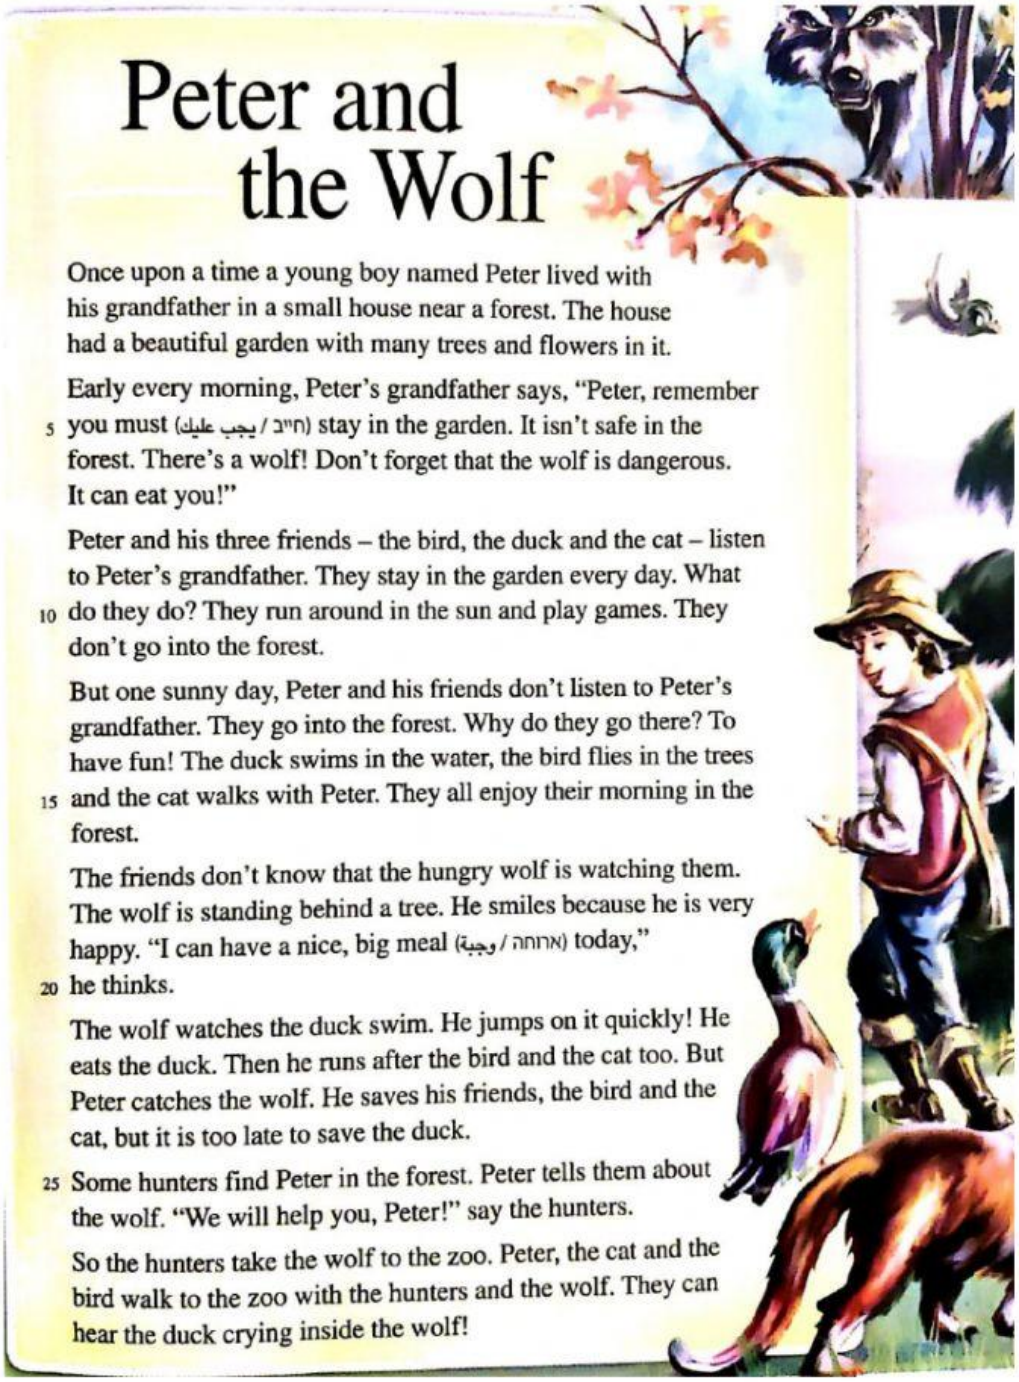

But one sunny day, Peter and his friends don't listen to Peter's grandfather. They go into the forest. Why do they go there? To have fun! The duck swims in the water, the bird flies in the trees and the cat walks with Peter. They all enjoy their morning in the forest.

The friends don't know that the hungry wolf is watching them. The wolf is standing behind a tree. He smiles because he is very happy. "I can have a nice, big meal (وجبة / ארוחה) today," he thinks.

The wolf watches the duck swim. He jumps on it quickly! He eats the duck. Then he runs after the bird and the cat too. But Peter catches the wolf. He saves his friends, the bird and the cat, but it is too late to save the duck.

Some hunters find Peter in the forest. Peter tells them about the wolf. "We will help you, Peter!" say the hunters.

So the hunters take the wolf to the zoo. Peter, the cat and the bird walk to the zoo with the hunters and the wolf. They can hear the duck crying inside the wolf!
