

Scenario #1

- Jackson wants to purchase a bicycle.
- Cycles Unlimited is selling one for $600.00.
- They are offering 20% discount, if cash is paid.
- 12½% Value Added Tax must be paid on all purchases
- What would be the discount Jackson receives by paying cash?
- What would be the discounted price of the bicycle?
- What would be the Value Added Tax on the purchase?
- How much money would Jackson actually spend to purchase the bicycle?

Scenario #2

- Spencer wants to purchase a cell phone.
- Batelco is selling the model he wants for $350.00.
- They are offering 10% discount, if cash is paid.
- 12½% Value Added Tax must be paid on all purchases
- What would be the discount Spencer receives by paying cash?
- What would be the discounted price of the cell phone?
- What would be the Value Added Tax on the purchase?
- How much money would Spencer actually spend to purchase the cell phone?

Scenario #3

- Jennifer wants to purchase a microwave.
- Cost Rite is advertising a model for $280.00.
- They are offering a discount of 25% discount, if cash is paid.
- 12½% Value Added Tax must be paid on all purchases
- What would be the discount Jennifer receives by paying cash?
- What would be the discounted price of the microwave?
- What would be the Value Added Tax on the purchase?
- How much money would Jennifer actually spend to purchase the microwave?