

Compound Subjects: A compound subject contains two or more simple subjects that do the same action.

Directions: Choose the sentence that is written correctly.

1. Sarah discussed the science lesson. Gerry discussed the science lesson.

Sarah discussed the science lesson, and Gerry discussed the science lesson.

Sarah discussed the science lesson and Gerry discussed it.

Sarah and Gerry discussed the science lesson.

2. My brothers came home today from the Bahamas. My cousins came home today from the Bahamas.

My brothers came home today from the Bahamas, and my cousins came home today from the Bahamas.

My brothers, and my cousins came home today from the Bahamas.

My brothers and my cousins came home today from the Bahamas.

3. The manager visited the site. The construction worker visited the site.

The manager and the construction worker visited the site.

The manager visited the site and the construction worker visited the site.

The manager visited the site, and the construction worker visited the site.

4. Lauren bought groceries. Kalena bought groceries. Francis bought groceries.

Lauren bought groceries, Kalena bought groceries, and Francis bought groceries.

Lauren bought groceries, and Kalena bought groceries, and Francis bought groceries.

Lauren, Kalena, and Francis bought groceries.

Compound Predicates: A compound predicate contains two or more simple predicates with one subject.

Directions: Choose the sentence that is written correctly.

5. Sandra looked for her purse. Sandra found her purse.

Sandra looked for her purse and found her purse.

Sandra looked for and found her purse.

Sandra looked for her purse, and Sandra found her purse.

6. Brenda made her bed. Brenda folded her clothes. Brenda vacuumed her floor.

Brenda made her bed, Brenda folded her clothes, and Brenda vacuumed her floor.

Brenda made her bed and folded her clothes and vacuumed her floor.

Brenda made her bed, folded her clothes, and vacuumed her floor.

7. Marcy refused to learn the song. Marcy refused to attend the concert.

Marcy refused to learn the song and attend the concert.

Marcy refused to learn the song, and Marcy refused to attend the concert.

Marcy refused to lean the song and Marcy refused to attend the concert.

8. Insects hummed among the leaves. Insects buzzed among the leaves.

Insects hummed among the leaves and they buzzed.

Insects hummed among the leaves and insects buzzed among the leaves.

Insects hummed and buzzed among the leaves.