

The building units of DNA are .

A nucleotide of DNA consists of , group and a base.

There are only types of nitrogenous bases.

DNA consist of two strands. One side is the original and the other is the complementary side. The bases align by the base paring rule. Using the Base Pairing Rule- write the complementary base in the box.

Label the nucleotide

