Conditional Sentences type 1

Form: if + simple present, will + infinitive

Use: refer to the future. An action in the future will only happen if a certain condition is fulfilled by that time. We don't know for sure whether the condition actually will be fulfilled or not, but the conditions seems rather realistic – so we think it is likely to happen.

Example: If I find her address, I'll send her an invitation. If I don't see him this afternoon, I'll phone him in the evening.

1. Complete the first conditional sentences.

- a. You will feel (feel) better if you take (take) an aspirin.
- b. If they _____ (come) with us, we _____ (have) a great time.
- c. If it _____ (rain), I _____ (might/stay) home.

- h. Jack _____ (move) to Scotland if he _____ (find) a good job there.
- i. If the pain _____ (not/stop), I _____ (see) a doctor.

2. Write these sentences as First Conditionals. Put the verbs in brackets in the correct form.

- a. What _____ (do) if your computer _____ (not work)?
- b. _____ (you /go) out with me on Saturday night if you _____ (finish) the project?
- c. If you _____ (go) to that website, you _____ (find) some interesting information.
- d. _____ (you/go) to that concert if it _____ (rain)?
- e. She _____ (buy) a computer if she _____ (get) that job.
- f. I _____ (give) you the information if you _____ (telephone) me tomorrow.
- g. What _____ (you/do) if the weather _____ (not/be) good tomorrow?

Second conditional

The second conditional is formed with if / unless + subject + past simple + comma (,) + would / wouldn't + infinitive without to.

The if / unless clause can go in the first or the second half of the sentence. If the if / unless clause comes second, we don't use a comma.

We'd have better students if we invested more in schools. = If we invested more in schools, we'd have better students.

Use

The second conditional is used to talk about hypothetical, unreal or imaginary situations.

If I was the education minister, I'd ban science! = I'm not the education minister.

I'd go on holiday if I won the lottery. = I haven't won the lottery and I don't think that I will.

We also use the second conditional to give advice.

If I were you, I'd be quiet!

a Complete the sentences with the correct form of the verbs in brackets.

- If I had (have) a car, I would drive (drive) to work.
- If I _____ (see) a tarantula, I _____ (be) terrified!
- I _____ (not know) what to do if I _____ (find) a mouse in my kitchen.
- What _____ you _____ (do) if you _____ (lose) your job?

Use

The present perfect simple implies that an action is complete.

I've read this hilarious book. (= I've finished it)

The present perfect continuous implies that an action is not complete and might continue.

I've been reading this hilarious book. (= I haven't finished it and I'll continue reading it)

Verbs that have the idea of a very long time or repeated action are often used in the present perfect continuous: wait, learn, try, rain, play, work.
I've been waiting for ages!

Verbs that have the idea of a short time or single action are often used in the present perfect simple: cut, stop, finish, start, break, die, lose, buy.
She's cut her finger.

Remember that stative verbs are only used with the simple form. These include: believe, belong, own, have (=possess), hate, imagine, know, like, love, prefer, remember, think, understand, want.
I've known Helena for three years.

Use

The past simple is used to talk about a finished action which happened at a specific time in the past.

Two months ago Laura gave Fred an mp3 player for his birthday.

The past perfect is used to talk about an action in the past which happened before another more recent past action. The events do not need to be presented in chronological order as the tense shows which happened first.

Last week Fred lost the mp3 player that Laura had given him for his birthday.

First action: Laura gave Fred an mp3 player.

Second action: Fred lost the mp3 player.

The programme had started when I turned on the TV.

First action: The programme started.

Second action: I turned on the TV.

Active or passive: introduction

The active voice is used when we are interested in the agent (the person or thing who does the action).

Sarah Burton designed this dress.

The passive voice emphasizes the action itself.

The action is more important than the person who does the action.

These jeans weren't manufactured in Japan.

If we want to ask about or say who does the action, we use by.

The first collection was designed by Ralph Lauren.

Who are these clothes made by?

When a sentence is changed from active to passive, the object of the active sentence becomes the subject of the passive sentence.

People make these trainers in China. → These trainers are made in China.

They invited Kate to Fashion Week. → Kate was invited to Fashion Week.
