

Idioms

Watch the video and complete the tasks

It's _____ means it's raining heavily, but the speaker believes it is a _____ metaphor.

The idiom _____ would make more sense, according to the speaker if it was _____ instead.

If I won a race I might be able to say " _____, Usain Bolt!"

Help me out, I'm in a _____.

I'm turning 40 soon, it's all going _____ from here!

He's picking his new car this afternoon, he's _____ pink!

What a horrible jacket! I wouldn't be _____ wearing it!

She's happy _____. She's just bought her own house.

Judy is always the first one to do her homework, she always does everything according to the rules... She's a _____.

I think I won't study much for this exam, the unit is a _____.

Well, after this exercise you should be able to use quite a few idioms, now the ball is _____.

So stop sitting on _____ and start using them!

