

--	--	--

This image shows a blank sheet of lined paper designed to look like a house. The top part features a red triangular roof with a white circle in the center, resembling a window. Below the roof are ten horizontal white lines for writing, separated by thin black borders. A light green background is visible behind the paper.