*Bear has two past participles born and borne with difference in meaning.

We use born to talk about birth and borne for any other thing not related to birth.

Hung is used when we are not talking about someone sentenced by law to die by hanging.

Hanged is used when we are talking about someone who is put to death by hanging.

* Hang has two past participle forms hung and hanged that are also its simple past with a change in meaning.

*Lay is easily confused, since it's also the simple past tense of Lie (Irregular). Its past participle is the same as its past tense.

* Lie is another confusing verb. Lie can be irregular or regular with a difference in meaning. In this activity we are focusing on its irregular form.

Lie (tregular) refers to the horizontal position to sleep whether on a bed or on the floor.
