

- 12 Have a look at the text again. Copy the questions with who and what from the text „Prunella is unhappy“. Sometimes we need the „do/does/did“, sometimes we don't. Write different questions in the list below.

Questions with do/does/did	Questions without do/does/did
Who did she talk to?	Who talked to her?

- 13 But when do we need „do/does/did“ and when not? Have a look at the video and find out. Then answer the right/wrong questions below. (c = correct, w = wrong)

1. When we ask for the object, we need an auxiliary (do/does/did).
2. When we ask for the subject, we don't need an auxiliary (do/does/did).
3. „Who killed Ernesto's son?“ is an subject question.
4. „Who did the mafia kill?“ is an object question.
