

Making music

started a band      wrote      songs      recorded      single      download played gigs      entered the charts      released      went on      tour

When Mick Jagger _____ called The Rolling Stones in 1962 with a few friends, he had no idea how successful they would become.

The Stones _____ their first _____, „Come on”, a song by the Singer Chuck Berry, and _____ it on 7 June, 1963.

They never performer it when they _____ because it wasn't 'their' song. But their fans found out about the record, and so many people bought it that it _____ in the UK and went to number 21.

Of course, in those days, fans had to go to record shops; they couldn't just _____ music from the Internet!

Mick Jagger and Keith Richards _____ a lot of _____ that became very famous.

In 1964, The Rolling Stones _____ their first _____ of the US.

When they came back, they had their first number one hit in the UK, „It's all Over Now.”