

-
- A wide-angle photograph of the Berlin Cathedral (Berliner Dom) in the morning. The cathedral's massive green copper dome and ornate Baroque facade are the central focus. The sun is low in the sky, casting a warm glow on the building's facade. In the foreground, a large, active fountain sprays water upwards, and many people are seen walking on the green lawn in front of the cathedral. The sky is a clear, pale blue.