My family and I travelled by train visit / visiting / to visit my dad's friends Julia and Bill last summer. Bill and Julia live a simple life. They've got an avatar / email address / emoji, but they haven't got tablets or mobile phones. They live in a small village on a peninsula. It isn't historical / modern / crowded because only 280 people live there! When we arrived at the train station, we see / 're seeing / saw lots of flowers outside on the platform.

I liked Julia and Bill's house. A lot of the houses in that village are modern, but his / hers / theirs is very old. When we arrived, Bill said, 'Hello! Come in!' and Julia said, 'We want you to have a really good time here!' They're very dangerous / kind / expensive people. So, what we did / did we do / do we do? We visited a small aquarium and we walked on the beach. We ate / didn't ate / didn't eat at any restaurants because there weren't any restaurants! On Saturday evening we went to a bowling / ticket office / concert. Some people played the guitar and sang lots of old songs about the sea. It was very relaxing.

A karting adventure

Emma and Clare often use their mum's laptop to play computer games. Yesterday, they played a karting game called 'Magic Karts'. They clicked the karts to go round and round. 'This is boring,' said Clare. There was a dragon in front of her kart. 'You mustn't click it!' said Emma, but Clare clicked it. Suddenly, the girls weren't outside the game. They were inside it! They saw a forest, a desert and a mountain. Emma was nervous, but Clare said, 'This is fantastic! Let's go to the mountain!' 'OK,' said Emma. Their karts went fast. First, they went through the forest. There was a lot of mud and their karts got dirty. They saw a beautiful waterfall. Then, they went through a sandstorm in the desert. 'This is frightening!' said Emma. Finally, they went up the mountain. They saw a snake. 'This is very frightening!' said Clare. 'We need to go home!' The desert and the forest were below them. 'Look!' said Emma. 'I can see our house! It's near the forest. Let's go!' 'Yes,' said Clare and they went karting down the mountain.
