

English – Fables - Moral

One bad turn deserves another.

Those people may say nice things about you, but they can't be trusted because they want something from you in return.

Do not trust flatterers.

A person who wears fine clothes may not be as good as he looks.

Necessity is the mother of invention.

A simple life in peace is better than living in fear.

If you covet all, you may lose all.

People will treat you as you treat them.

Fine feathers don't make fine birds.

If you desire more than enough, you will lose everything. Be happy with what you have!

Better beans in peace than cakes in fear.

When you really need to do something, you will find the way.
