A Choose the correct indefinite pronouns. Then ask and answer the questions in pairs.

1 Have you ever eaten nothing / anything unusual on holiday?
2 If you could go on an expedition anywhere / somewhere in the whole world, where would you go?
3 Do you know anyone / no one who works in the travel industry?
4 If you could change something / nothing about your hometown, what would it be?
5 Do you enjoy spending holidays lying on a beach doing anything / nothing?
6 Would you rather go abroad on holiday or anywhere / somewhere in your country?
7 If you crashed your car into a parked car and anybody / nobody saw, what would you do?

B Complete the two dialogues with indefinite pronouns.

Jade Hi, Carl. [1]_____ told me you were on holiday last week. Did you go away [2]_____?
Carl Yeah, but [3]_____ exciting. We went to this tiny village in Wales that [4]_____ has ever heard of.
Jade Oh, right. How come you went there?
Carl Dad had read [5]_____ about it in a travel magazine and thought it sounded interesting.
Jade And was it?
Carl No, it was dead boring. There was [6]_____ to see or do and the weather was dreadful.
Jade Shame. Hopefully you'll get to go [7]_____ better on your next holiday.

Linda You look annoyed, Sharon. Is [8]_____ wrong?
Sharon [9]_____ crashed into the back of my car on my way home last night and then drove off without stopping.
Linda That's terrible. Did [10]_____ see it happen?
Sharon No, it was late and there was [11]_____ around.
Linda Did you report it to the police?
Sharon Yes, although I had almost [12]_____ to tell them. I didn't get the licence plate number and the driver could have been [13]_____!
Linda Come on, let's go to the café. I'll buy you [14]_____ nice to cheer you up!
