

There is /are, some and any: affirmative and negative

1. study the table.

	Affirmative (+)
Singular	There's a park. There's an interesting shop.
Plural	There are two restaurants. There are some museums.
	Negative (-)
Singular	There isn't a park.
Plural	There aren't any shops.

Rules:

In plural (daudzsk.; множеств. ч.) sentences

we use some in the affirmative (+) and any in negative sentences.

2. Correct the sentences (izlabo teikumos klūdas / исправляет ошибки в предложениях).

In Hollywood, Ireland ...

1. there aren't some discos. _____
2. there are any interesting places near the village. _____
3. there aren't an Armani shop. _____
4. there are a small shop. _____
5. there's 100 people in the village. _____
6. there isn't any famous people. _____

3. Select correct words in sentences.

There is / are seven million people in London.

There is / are some museums.

There is / are four airports.

There is / are a hotel.

There isn't / aren't cinemas.