

RELATIVE CLAUSES – CONTACT CLAUSES

Decide if you need the relative pronoun or not!

1. Edinburgh is a city                    which                    we don't know very well.
2. It's a place                                which                    is famous for its beautiful buildings.
3. Harry is a boy                            who                        I met in Edinburgh.
4. He showed me a DVD                    which                    he bought in the Tourist Information Centre.
5. Harry is a person                        who                        never spends a lot of money on sweets.

Make one sentence out of two. Use a relative pronoun. If you can leave it out, put it in brackets!

1. Andy is a Scot. His grandma was born in Germany.

Andy is a Scot whose grandma was born in Germany.

2. He often visits friends. Their parents have a small hotel.

3. This is a new song by The Blacks. I heard it on the radio.

4. The Blacks are two boys from Scotland. They sing together.

5. This is our new music teacher. We saw her yesterday.

6. Mobile phones are a cool invention. You can use them for many things.

Make sentences with contact clauses.

Match the sentence parts. (There are no relative pronouns.)

- |   |   |                                      |
|---|---|--------------------------------------|
| 1. This is the CD                       | → | A he uses for climbing.              |
| 2. Have you found the torch             |   | B we bought at the baker's?          |
| 3. Aysa broke the present               | → | C I got in the music shop.           |
| 4. Rob has forgotten the boots          |   | D they take at concerts.             |
| 5. Would you like some of the cake      |   | E you lost in the park?              |
| 6. My friends always show me the photos |   | F she bought for her mum's birthday. |