

The WTO

1. What is NOT the purpose of G20 leader meeting in Australia in 2014? (1 point)
 - to discuss free trade
 - to consider implementing trade sanctions against one member
 - to show that they are not pleased with Russia's actions in the Crimean Peninsula.
 - to hold Russia to the agreements they sign
2. What is the measure to choke free trade off mentioned in paragraph 1? (1 point)
 - sanctions
 - meeting
 - agreement
 - rules
3. After the GATT was enacted, all the nations of the world have moved toward greater free trade. (1 point)
 - True
 - False
4. At the end of paragraph 2, when does the WTO step in with a solution everyone can accept? (1 point)
 - when politicians give nationalistic bluster.
 - when leader go along with economists on the benefit of free trade.
 - when trade talks devolve into arguments.
 - when politicians can't talk with each other.
5. Which is true about the US in paragraph 3? (1 point)
 - 20 sanctions have enacted by the US on 20 countries.
 - More than 30 sanctions have been enacted by the US.
 - US enacts all their sanctions for political reasons.
 - US enacts sanctions against Iran for their terrorism.
6. What is RIGHT about the sanctions in South Africa? (1 point)
 - It has been one of a lot of success that sanctions may have.
 - They caused South Africa to mend their way.
 - They cut the success of the South Africa's economy.
 - They depressed the nation.
7. The threat of sanctions can often motivate a struggling country, but actually enacting them does little to change things. What is the subject of the second clause of the sentence? (1 point)

8. Which is the example for "local-content" or "local participation" requirements in paragraph 5? (1 point)

- The opposition to the building of a Japanese-owned auto plant
- The local regulations that kill international companies' projects
- The rules for oil and gas exploration in Brazil
- The local governments and well-organized private citizens

9. What is the subject of the “where” clause in this sentence? (1 point)

In the rare instances where a modern, economically connected nation suddenly passes an obvious bit of protectionist legislation, international partners usually respond in a predictable way.

10. In paragraph 7, why are most economists really surprised when nations actually head towards real trouble? (1 point)

- The system that involves WTO is effective enough.
- The WTO is the mediator of disputes.
- The nations don't have any territorial conflict.
- The problem has been solved by the WTO.

11. What does “their” in “their interest” in paragraph 9 refer to? (1 point)
