Tanya's surprising invention

Tanya invented a computer microscope. She showed it to Mum, Dad and her cat, Mitsy.

'Look at my invention. It makes pictures very big.'

'Well done', said Dad. 'It's time for bed now.'

Tanya went to sleep. That night, Mitsy jumped on the microscope.

The next morning, Tanya looked around her room. She looked at her arms and legs. 'Wow! Everything is very big and I'm very small!' She climbed down from the bed.

'Mum! Dad!' she shouted.

'We're here, under the chair', said Mum.

Then Tanya saw Mitsy. Mitsy was very big. 'Quick, run!' shouted Tanya.

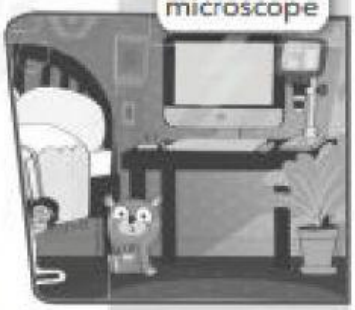

The family ran behind the computer. Mitsy jumped onto the microscope. Beep! Bloop! BANG!

'We're all big again!' said Mum.

'Miaow!' said Mitsy.

'Mitsy wants her breakfast', said Tanya.

'You can feed her now', said Dad. 'She isn't big and dangerous!'

1 Read the story on page 70 again. Order the parts of the story.

a 'Quick, run!' shouted Tanya. ☐

b 'Well done', said Dad. 'It's time for bed now.' 1

c 'Mitsy wants her breakfast', said Tanya. ☐

d 'We're all big again!' said Mum. ☐

2 Read and circle.

1 What did Tanya invent? a a microscope b a picture

2 Who jumped on the microscope? a Mum b Mitsy

3 Who was very small? a Tanya b the cat

3 Read the story again and put the events in order.

a Tanya went to bed. ___

b Tanya invented a computer microscope. 1

c Tanya, Mum and Dad were big again. ___

d Mitsy was very, very big. ___

LIVEWORKSHEETS