

How can industrial activity be classified?

There are many different types of industry. We can classify industry into three main categories:

Primary

These industries extract raw materials directly from the earth or sea.

Secondary

These industries process and manufacture products from raw materials.

Tertiary

These industries provide a service.

PRINCIPLES OF BUSINESS FORM 2 QUIZ (MAY, 2023)

PRODUCTION

A. INSTRUCTIONS: Complete the table below by putting the words under the correct type of production.

| Primary production | Secondary Production | Tertiary Production |
|--------------------|----------------------|---------------------|
|                    |                      |                     |
|                    |                      |                     |
|                    |                      |                     |
|                    |                      |                     |
|                    |                      |                     |
|                    |                      |                     |
|                    |                      |                     |
|                    |                      |                     |
|                    |                      |                     |
|                    |                      |                     |

Construction

Oil drilling

Banana harvesting

baking

Babering

dress-making

Entertainment

teaching

Massaging

banking

Flower arranging

fishing

Farming

braiding

Healthcare

mining

Milking a cow singing

Cooking

Insurance

Picking corn

hairdressing

furniture manufacturing