A brief outline of history, symptoms and signs and present therapy is given below:

This 42-year-old <sup>1</sup>salesman had a severe attack of <sup>2</sup>central chest pain <sup>3</sup>six months ago which <sup>4</sup>lasted 10 mins and was <sup>5</sup>relieved by rest. This has recurred several times <sup>6</sup>after exertion. His father <sup>7</sup>died aged 56 of a <sup>8</sup>coronary thrombosis. Physical examination was normal and I refer him to you for further assessment in view of his age.

Diagnosis: angina

Thank you for seeing him.

Yours sincerely,
