It was my friend's birthday last Sunday, so we went to Devran Restaurant, in Haringey. It's a Turkish restaurant. It's very beautiful and cosy. What's more this restaurant is big and clean.

We were really hungry when we arrived, because we went after the cinema.

First, we ordered the starters. I had a salad with Turkish bread and my friend had fried cheese. The starters were fresh and delicious.

Then we ordered a mixed grill. The mixed grill was in a big plate to share. In the plate there were lamb chops, ribs, chicken wings, and rice. The meat was well cooked and it was tasty.

After that we ordered coconut ice cream as a dessert. While we were having our ice cream they served us Ceylon tea.

The waiters were friendly and the owner was in the restaurant supervising them. Devran Restaurant is good value for money. It's the best restaurant in London!
