

MONEY TAKERS – BIG FAILURES

Steven Panjani was robbing a bank, but he needed a bag for the money. He emptied his sports bag and put the money in it. Unfortunately, he left several things in the bank, including his wallet, a bank <sup>1</sup> _____, a <sup>2</sup> _____ from the same bank, an electricity <sup>3</sup> _____ and his house keys. He left these on the floor of the bank and was arrested twenty minutes later.

A woman in Sri Lanka went to a company and said she wanted to <sup>4</sup> _____ some money in it. Then she gave them a fake $1 million <sup>5</sup> _____. These don't exist! The manager called the police.

A child robbed a sweet shop. He got a bag full of <sup>6</sup> _____, but he dropped them. He spent five minutes trying to pick them up and finished at the same time as the police arrived.

A customer at a restaurant gave the waiter his coat, but left his wallet in it. Later the waiter, Emilio Delgado, was found with $400 in <sup>7</sup> _____ from the wallet. When arrested, Delgado said, 'It's a <sup>8</sup> _____ from a customer! I <sup>9</sup> _____ it this afternoon!'

Willy Finn booked into a US hotel and paid by <sup>10</sup> _____. That night he robbed the reception. The police looked at his registration, saw his name and address, went to his house and arrested him.
