Conditional sentences

1. Complete the sentences using the correct form of the verbs in brackets. Use a conditional or time clause.

a. Pay attention, please. Unless you.....(listen) carefully, you .....(not know) what to do.

b. He is fat because he didn't take any exercise. But if he ..... (take) more exercise, he ..... (not be) so fat.

c. I ..... (no wear) that coat if I ..... (be) you. The weather is hot.

d. We cannot go out because it's raining. When the rain ..... (stop), we ..... (go out).

e. I might go shopping this afternoon. If I ..... (go), I ..... (buy) some food.

2. Complete the text using the correct form of the verbs in brackets. Use a conditional or a time clause.

When primary school children want to play, they usually turn to some other child for company. However, this can be challenging for them when they [1] ..... (be) forbidden to go out home. And this is the case with Spanish children today. They might therefore benefit from any type of video chat application that are available on the Web. One of these, the Skype, is available for free. When you decide to contact a person via Skype, you just [2] ..... (switch on) your computer, open the app and connect to the person you want to talk to. As for children at home, a study found that many felt less agitated and anxious after using Skype for two weeks. "I [3] ..... (not believe) it could be effective if I hadn't tried it myself," said Amie's mum. "However, we wouldn't use it or another video-conference app if we [4] ..... (not be) obliged to stay at home." So, when you need to talk to someone one day, [5] ..... you ..... (talk) to him/her in person or virtually?

3. Complete the sentences with a conditional or a time clause. Do not change the original meaning of the sentence.

a. He is my brother, so I forgive him.

If

b. I didn't enjoy myself because I didn't like the music there.

I

c. You won't leave without paying your drink.

Unless

d. Eating chocolates makes me ill.

If

e. We're going to be late, so let's leave now.

If

LIVEWORKSHEETS