My first balloon flight

I had always wanted to fly in a hot-air balloon. My dreams came true on my last birthday. While wishing me happy birthday, my parents gave me a ticket for a balloon flight. I was so excited that I couldn't wait to get to the airfield. 8.1. ____ They introduced themselves and explained the basics of ballooning. They were warm, friendly, and funny, so I felt relaxed. The pilots divided us into groups, and we went to watch how they were preparing the balloons. 8.2. ____ It was very comfortable and divided into sections. We sat on the benches in the section for the passengers while the pilots took their seats in a separate place. The balloon was ready to go up. 8.3. ____ He was probably afraid of heights. The pilots decided that this person shouldn't fly and helped him out of the balloon. Soon, the balloon went up. The pilot reminded us to relax and take photos. The views were amazing. We flew over forests, lakes, and villages. 8.4. ____ We did the same. At the end of the flight I started thinking about the next one. It was a wonderful experience for me.

- A. After they were filled with air, the pilots told us to get into the basket.
- B. The local people waved to us while we were passing by.
- C. During the flight we felt safe because the pilots were experienced.
- D. However, just before the balloon took off, one of the passengers felt unwell.
- E. When we arrived there, we met a group of other passengers and the pilots.

Learning alone or in a group?

A. When I revise for a test, I prefer to study on my own. This is because I don't like anybody to disturb me, which often happens in a study group. However, I never say 'No' when other students ask me to explain something to them. I know that by teaching others, I also prepare for tests or exams.

B. I like to study alone but review in a group. First, I have to learn as much as possible myself. Then, when I get into a group, I can discuss any questions I have. But studying in groups is not always good. It's because sometimes one person starts discussing something else, and the whole group ends up chatting about their dogs or what film they saw last night.

C. I usually study on my own. I just feel that I can concentrate better then. But sometimes, studying alone causes a problem as I forget something and I can't find the information in my notes. Then I meet with other students, and they share their notes with me. That's why I always choose the people to learn with wisely. I must be sure they will help me.

Which person

9.1.	selects a study group carefully.
9.2.	helps other students to learn.
9.3.	is against useless talking.
9.4.	studies in a group only when he/she needs to.

Zadanie 10 Przeczytaj teksty A i B. Na ich podstawie w zadaniach 10.1.–10.3. wybierz poprawną odpowiedź i zakreśl literę A, B lub C. Następnie uzupełnij luki 10.4.–10.6, zgodnie z przeczytanymi tekstami. Luki należy uzupełnić w języku polskim. (0–6)
