GRAMMAR RECALL

First Conditionals

An 'If' clause with the verb in the present tense, used with a main clause with the verb in the future tense, is called a first conditional clause. It expresses a possible condition and its probable result.

*If you get some training, you will find a job easily.
If we don't hurry, we'll miss our plane.*

Modal verbs are often used with first conditional 'If' clauses to express a variety of meanings. Read the sentences on the left and match them to a usage on the right.

- |   |                              |
|---|------------------------------|
| 1. If you don't feel well, you should see a doctor.        | a. necessity                 |
| 2. If you want to be a chef, you need to enjoy cooking.    | b. advice, suggestion        |
| 3. If we go to London, we might visit Buckingham Palace.   | c. permission                |
