Sam and Dave are digging a hole, and they will not stop until they find something spectacular. They keep digging straight down, but they still don't find anything spectacular. They keep changing directions and barely missing the diamond. They run out of chocolate milk, and they share the last cookie. But they still keep digging…. They are so tired that they fall asleep. However, the dog keeps digging and they all fall down to a new land. The falling is something spectacular for them….

This book is really something spectacular for me! If you haven't read this book, please read it, at least once. Believe it or not, it is too good to put it down.

9. Stonehenge

For many years, people have puzzled over why Stonehenge in southern England was built. Some people think that Stonehenge was a kind of calendar to track the movement of the sun and the moon and mark the changing of seasons. To explain this, June 21 is the longest day of the year in England. Each year on this day, if the sky is clear, the sun shines through the middle of the circle in the early morning. It also does the same at sunset on December 21, to show the shortest day of
