

Match words 1-5 with the definitions (a-e)

- | | |
|-----------------------|--|
| 1. can relate to that | a. This phrase is used when something appears to be unlikely or difficult to believe. |
| 2. boy crush | b. A feeling of romantic attraction towards a boy, often felt by young girls. |
| 3. hold back | c. A person who takes care of another person, usually a family member or someone who is sick or elderly. |
| 4. caregiver | d. To restrain oneself from doing or saying something, often due to fear or uncertainty. |
| 5. seems hard to be | e. When you say "can relate to that," it means you understand and have experienced the same thing as someone else. |

Read the text

I have a funny story for you that you can definitely relate to! It seems hard to be believed, but it's true. It involves a caregiver, a boy crush, and a struggle to hold back laughter.

So, my friend Sarah was working as a caregiver for an elderly gentleman named Mr. Jenkins. He was a bit grumpy at times, but Sarah did her best to keep him happy and comfortable. One day, while she was visiting Mr. Jenkins, she noticed that he had a picture of a young man on his bedside table. Sarah asked him who the young man was, and Mr. Jenkins said that it was his grandson, Jake.

Sarah couldn't help but notice that Jake was very good looking and immediately developed a boy crush on him. She held back her excitement and continued to take care of Mr. Jenkins as usual.

A few days later, Jake came to visit his grandfather while Sarah was there. She tried to act cool and not let on that she was crushing on him. However, when Jake walked into the room, Sarah couldn't hold back her laughter. It turns out that Jake was wearing a ridiculous hat that made him look like a giant tomato!

Sarah tried her best to hold back her laughter, but she couldn't help it. She burst out laughing and held back tears of joy. Jake was embarrassed but Sarah reassured him that it was a funny and cute hat.

From that day on, every time Jake visited his grandfather, Sarah would joke around with him and tease him about his tomato hat. It became a running joke between them and Sarah always held back her laughter when Jake wore it.

Looking back on the memory, Sarah says that she can still relate to that moment and the struggle to hold back laughter, but she's glad she held back just enough to not hurt Jake's feelings.

Fill in the gaps with the target vocabulary

1. I _____ (relation) feeling of loneliness.
2. It _____ (harden) a fair competition.
3. The _____ (care about) took care of the elderly woman.
4. She had a _____ (infatuation) on her classmate.
5. He tried to _____ (restrain) his tears during the sad movie.

