Wasps and picnics

How can you stop a pleasant summer picnic from being ruined by wasps in (0) of a sugary treat? Well, scientists have (1) some interesting information on the subject. The (2) is evidently to spot any single wasps which arrive on the (3) unaccompanied. Such wasps are likely to be 'scout' wasps which are out looking for suitable food, with the intention of reporting back to the nest and getting other wasps to help come and collect the food. Scientists advise people to simply trap such a scout wasp under a glass for the (4) of the picnic, before freeing it again. The advice makes good (5) but supposes that several spare glasses have been packed for this (6) !

The scientists also (7) what many picnickers have discovered from experience: if wasps are circling around your picnic, the worst thing you can do is start waving your arm to get them away. They will interpret this as an aggressive (8) and may sting you to defend themselves.
