Gabon is one of(1) last places in the world where you can see gorillas, leopards, elephants, or hippos. Gabon's forests are(2) largest in the world and they are still intact. The country's profit from oil went down in(3) recent years and(4) government is looking for new ways how to make money without destroying the forest.(5) new project called Grande Mayumbe aims to get money from logging, farming, and ecotourism. Workers are building(6) safari houses which will cost 2,000 dollars per night and up to 20 people can stay there at(7) same time.(8) Italian company is logging trees sustainably, which means that it cuts down just enough trees for the forest to regenerate. Local people worry that(9) project will have(10) negative impact on their lives and that they will no longer be able to fish, hunt or grow crops.
