HOMEWORK: 6/2/3 DATE: 8/28/2023

Towns in the past

There were many towns in the past, but they were different from what they are now.

Imagine a town in the 19th century. It was very beautiful, but it wasn't big. There weren't many people in it.

In the 19th century, there were no traffic lights in most towns. The streets weren't wide, they were narrow. Pavements next to roads were narrow, too. There weren't many cars, and there were few taxis in the streets. At the end of the 19th century, there were buses and trams in towns. Most houses and other buildings were low and there weren't skyscrapers in most towns.

1 There weren't any towns in the past

2 A town in the 19th century was small and very beautiful.

3 There were a lot of people.

4 There weren't traffic lights in most towns in the 19th century.

5 Most streets weren't narrow in the 19th century.

6 There weren't pavements next to a road.

7 There were buses and trams in towns at the end of the 19th century.

8 There were some skyscrapers in every town.

LIVEWORKSHEETS