

QUIZ 18

TOEFL PREPOSITIONS 2

Choose the correct preposition.

1. The rivers in this region aboundfish, providing ample opportunities for fishing enthusiasts.
2. The priest absolved the repentant sinner his past transgressions.
3. During Ramadan, Muslims abstain food and drink from sunrise to sunset.
4. The board of directors acceded the CEO's request for additional funding.
5. It is important for a company's actions to accord its stated principles and values.
6. The prosecutor accused the defendant committing a heinous crime.
7. After much deliberation, the team decided to acquiesce the proposed plan.
8. The jury acquitted the defendant all charges, finding him not guilty.
9. As a loyal supporter, I will always adhere the principles and values of my political party.
10. She finally admitted stealing the money, accepting responsibility for her actions.
11. She is very affectionateher children, always showering them with love and care.
12. I was annoyedhim for being late to our meeting without any valid reason.
13. The new policies are only applicableemployees who have been with the company for more than two years.
14. He felt ashamedhis actions and apologized sincerely for his mistakes.
15. She was awarethe potential risks involved, but decided to proceed with caution.
16. The artist was so absorbedhis work that he lost track of time and forgot to eat.
17. Living in a tropical climate, he was accustomedthe intense heat and humidity.
18. After years of studying, she became acquaintedvarious fields of knowledge.
19. He has been addictedsmoking for many years and struggles to quit.
20. The company belongsa larger multinational corporation, with headquarters in multiple countries.

21. Regular exercise and a balanced diet are beneficialhealth and can help prevent various diseases.
22. When traveling in crowded areas, it is crucial to bewarepickpockets and keep your belongings secure.
23. He was borna poor family, but through hard work and determination, he managed to create a successful career.
24. The salesman tried to cajole mebuying an expensive product by promising unrealistic benefits.
25. She is highly capablehandling multiple tasks simultaneously and delivering outstanding results.
26. The detective charged the suspectmurder after gathering substantial evidence against him.
27. The con artist cheated herof a significant amount of money by claiming false investment opportunities.
28. The employer tried to coerce his employeeworking overtime by threatening to give her a negative performance review.
29. No amount of compensation can fully make upthe pain and grief caused by the sudden death of a loved one.
30. I will complyyour request and assist you in any way I can.
31. It is not my place to condemn someonetheir actions, but I believe it is important to address the issue at hand.
32. This environment is conducivemy mental health.
33. I must confessaccidentally breaking the vase while cleaning the room.
34. It is important to conformthe rules and regulations set by the organization.
35. I am consciousthe fact that time is running out, so we should hurry.
36. The court found the defendant guilty and convicted himrobbery and arson.

37. The doctor's treatment plan helped cure the patienttheir illness.
38. I would never deceive someonedoing something they don't want to do.
39. Spending too much time indoors can leave one deficientvitamin D.
40. It is unethical to deprive someonetheir rights, property, or freedom without just cause.
41. She was desirouspursuing a career in fashion design from a young age.
42. The bystander pleaded with the person to desistfiring the gun, fearing for their safety.
43. They felt a sense of despairthe news of their favorite team losing the championship.
44. Despite the challenges, she never despairedachieving her dream of becoming a doctor.
45. The small cabin in the woods was devoidmodern comforts, but it had its own rustic charm.
46. His approach to problem-solving was distinctothers in the team, bringing fresh perspectives.
47. After completing the required qualifications, she became eligiblethe prestigious post.
48. The actress was not only talented but also endowednatural beauty, captivating audiences.
49. Every citizen is entitledcertain basic rights, regardless of their background or social status.
50. He couldn't help but feel envioushis friend's new car, as he had been saving up for one himself.
51. The customer decided to exchange the trousersa larger size, as they were too tight.
52. The boss excused Johnbeing late to work, understanding that he had encountered unexpected traffic.
53. Could you please explain the conceptme again? I'm having trouble understanding it.
54. Despite their best efforts, the athlete failedtheir attempt to break the long-standing record.
55. Smoking is known to be fatalhealth, causing various diseases and ailments.
56. Cows feedgrass as their primary source of nutrition.

57. She felt sorryher friend who had gone through a difficult breakup and offered a shoulder to lean on.
58. Since childhood, she has been fondmusic, dance, and poetry, constantly seeking out new forms of artistic expression.
59. The teacher forbade the studentsuse their phones during class to ensure a distraction-free learning environment.
60. The company furnished its employeesnew laptops to enhance their productivity and job satisfaction.
61. She was extremely gratefulher best friend for always being there for her during tough times.
62. He was so greedymoney that he resorted to embezzling funds from the company, putting his job and reputation at risk.
63. She grievedher best friend who passed away, finding solace in sharing memories and stories with others who also mourned the loss.
64. The defendant was found guiltycommitting a heinous crime and was sentenced to life in prison.
65. He constantly hankeredpower and status, using any means necessary to climb the corporate ladder.
66. They had a quarrelwhich restaurant to choose for dinner, each strongly defending their preferred choice.
67. After the sudden passing of her father, she became the sole heirhis vast property.
68. During the meeting, he hintedan innovative idea that could potentially boost sales and efficiency.
69. Despite being hostilemy colleague, I decided to be helpful and offered to assist them with their project.
70. Ignorantthe troubles that lay ahead, Sarah happily embarked on her vacation without realizing the challenges she would face.

71. In exchangea favor, I agreed to help my friend move into their new apartment.
72. In revengehis friend's betrayal, Jack devised a cunning plan to expose their secrets and publicly humiliate them.
73. In searcha better job opportunity, she moved to a new city and started networking with professionals in her field.
74. The team realized they were inferiortheir opponents and had to work harder to improve their performance.
75. I informed my sisterthe surprise birthday party we organized for her.
76. He was innocentthe crime he was accused of and had a solid alibi to prove his innocence.
77. The detective was assigned to inquirethe background of the prime suspect in the murder case.
78. His extensive reading gave him great insighthuman nature, allowing him to understand people's motivations and behaviors.
79. Despite his friends' objections, Mark insistedpursuing his dream of becoming a professional musician.
80. Sarah's mother-in-law always seems to interferetheir family affairs, offering unsolicited advice and making decisions without consulting them.
81. After adopting a vegetarian lifestyle, Lisa began to livevegetables and whole foods, focusing on nourishing her body with plant-based nutrition.
82. Thank you for your prompt response to my email. I look forwardhearing from you regarding the next steps.
83. Jenna couldn't help but meddleher sister's relationship, constantly offering opinions and trying to manipulate the situation to her liking.
84. In the dimly lit room, Alice mistook her coworker Johnher boss and accidentally divulged confidential information meant for someone else.

85. The entire community came together to mournthe dead after the tragic accident, sharing their grief and supporting the affected families.
86. The employee was negligentcompleting his assigned tasks, often missing deadlines and failing to deliver satisfactory work.
87. It was negligentthe parents to leave their young child unattended near the swimming pool, posing a significant safety risk.
88. The gang leader was notorioushis involvement in multiple criminal activities, instilling fear in the community and attracting the attention of law enforcement.
89. In Asian culture, it is customary for children to be obedienttheir elders, showing respect and following their guidance.
90. Despite her friends' insistence, Emily strongly objectedgoing bungee jumping, as she had an extreme fear of heights.
91. As a sign of gratitude, the young man felt obligedhis mentor who had guided him throughout his career, and he wanted to repay him in any way possible.
92. Completely obliviousthe date, Rachel accidentally missed her best friend's birthday party and felt terrible about it.
93. The politician was opposedthe new economic policies proposed by the rival party, arguing that they would negatively impact the middle class.
94. Tom reluctantly partedhis hard-earned money to purchase the latest smartphone, despite knowing that he should be saving for other priorities.
95. During the holiday feast, everyone gathered around the table to partakethe delicious homemade dishes prepared with love and care.
96. The ability to communicate with animals is peculiarDr. Johnson, the renowned veterinarian who seems to have a unique connection and understanding with all creatures, big and small.

97. Despite numerous setbacks, John persistedpursuing his dream of becoming a professional athlete, never giving up on his training and improvement.
98. Sarah prefers teacoffee as she finds the taste of tea more soothing and comforting.
99. I prefer to read a book ratherwatch TV, as I find it more engaging and enjoyable.
100. The construction work had to be completed previousthe grand opening of the new shopping mall.
101. The sign clearly prohibits visitorsbringing their pets into the museum for safety reasons.
102. John is highly qualifiedthe position of a software engineer with his extensive experience and relevant certifications.
103. After weeks of rest and medication, Emily finally recoveredher illness and regained her strength.
104. The term "allegory" refersa storytelling technique where characters or events symbolically represent abstract concepts or ideas.
105. In order to maintain a healthy lifestyle, it's important to refrainconsuming excessive amounts of sugary foods and drinks.
105. The lazy employee was remisshis duties, often neglecting important tasks and causing delays in the company's operations.
106. Seeking revengehis brother for betraying him, Peter plotted an elaborate plan to expose his sibling's wrongdoing and humiliate him publicly.
107. Mary tried different methods to rid herselfher smoking habit, including nicotine patches and counseling.
108. The thief robbed the elderly ladyher purse, leaving her without her money and personal belongings.
109. I have been searchingmy car keys all morning, but they seem to have disappeared without a trace.

110. The new model of the smartphone is said to be superiorits predecessor, offering faster processing speed and improved features.
111. The police suspect the neighborstealing the package from our doorstep, as they were seen acting suspiciously near our house.
112. Lisa sympathizedher friend who was going through a difficult breakup, offering a shoulder to cry on and words of encouragement.
113. After seeing the homeless man shivering in the cold, the kind-hearted woman took pityhim and gave him her extra jacket.
114. Sarah pleadedher parents to let her attend the concert, promising to finish all her homework beforehand and not to stay out too late.