

Salads

Salad is a kind of food made from . Examples include cucumber salad, potato salad, and tomato salad. We can also make salad with various kinds of .

Many health-conscious guests like to have a salad either or the . If the guest does not mention a salad while ordering, it is a very good sales technique to suggest one.

There are many different kinds of for these salads, including vinaigrette, Roquefort, cream, and mustard dressing. A guest can choose a dressing for his or her . A good waiter always offers an appropriate variety of dressing to each guest who orders a salad.

