The seasons and my clothes

The spring time has usually average temperatures of 12 to 18 degrees centigrade. This is mildly warm. This is why people may go out in light clothes. People may wear jeans and light jackets. People also wear jeans, shirts and caps.

The summer time is warmer. People can go out in a sundress, shorts, skirts or t-shirts. It is customary to use flip flops and sandals, and the weather is perfect for swimming. The sun is so hot, that people usually wear sunglasses, and umbrellas to protect themselves from the rays of the sun.

In autumn, people start wearing scarves, and sweaters to keep warm. It is also a very rainy season, so people also keep umbrellas and rain coats in their bags.

In the winter, people use gloves, scarves, coats, and boots. It is very cold and also very humid. The boots protect your toes and feet from the extreme cold temperatures.
