Adverbs before adjectives

(Taiwan)   is   extremely   crowded.
                         adverb   adjective

(Taiwan)   is   an   extremely   crowded   city.
                 a/an   adverb   adjective   noun

Make sentences using the adjectives given and adverbs of your own. Don't forget the rule above!

São Paulo is very big (big). It's a _____ _____ place to live (expensive). The cost of things such as transportation and food is high. It's _____ _____, too (crowded). A lot of people come to São Paulo to try a living. São Paulo is ____ _____ _____ city, though (interesting). There are a lot of places to visit, like museums and parks. However, it's _____ _____ (noisy). There is a lot of traffic. And it's also _____ _____ _____ place (polluted). Many people suffer from allergies.

Rio de Janeiro is ____ _____ _____ city (beautiful). It has _____ _____ beaches (fantastic). It's _____ _____, too, with places like Cristo Redentor and Guanabara Bay (interesting). It's _____ _____, but with a big seashore (small). Rio de Janeiro is ____ _____ _____ place in the world, everyone knows its beaches and there are songs about it, like "Girl from Ipanema" (famous).

Madrid is _____ _____ _____ place to visit (interesting). There are lots of museums that display the works of artists as Picasso, Gaudí and Miró. It's _____ _____ (big). It is the biggest city in Spain. It's _____ _____ for its touristic sites, like the Plaza Mayor and The Almudena Cathedral (famous). However, Madrid is _____ _____ _____ city (expensive). It's also _____ _____ with old buildings and antic architecture (old-fashioned).