Donald Trump's Business

In 2016, Trump's net worth _____ (estimate) at $3.7 billion by Forbes, making him extremely rich. Trump claimed his net worth was over $10 billion.

It _____ (say) that he began his career with a loan of fourteen million dollars from his father, which _____ (pay) back with interest.

Trump _____ (begin) his career at the family real estate company, Elizabeth Trump and Son, which focused on middle-class rental housing in New York.
He _____ (give) control of the company in 1971 and one of his first acts was to rename it The Trump Organization.

The Trump Organization _____ (invest) in: real estate development, the stock market and property management. It owns a New York television production company that _____ (produce) the reality television program, The Apprentice.

The Trump Organization also _____ (have) global investments in real estate, construction, entertainment, food & beverages, airlines and beauty competitions.

In October 2016, the Economist magazine _____ (conclude) that Trump's "business career performance from 1985 to 2016 _____ (be) mediocre compared with the stock market and property in New York". A subsequent analysis by The Washington Post _____ (report) that "Trump _____ (be) a mix of arrogance, business failures, and real success".

LIVEWORKSHEETS