Hi,

I’ve been meaning to write for ages and finally today I 1) (do) _____ something about it. It 2) (be) _____ really hard to sit down lately and write as I have been travelling so much. Since we last 3) (see) _____ each other, I’ve unpacked my suitcases four times, in four different cities.

As planned, I 4) (go) _____ from London to Prague to set up a new regional office there last December. You know I 5) (always want) _____ to go, but maybe I was imagining Prague in spring. Winter was very cold. It is difficult to be away from home over Christmas and communicating via Skype on Christmas day 6) (not be) _____ really the same as being with my relatives. From there I was on another three-month mission to supervise the set-up of the office in New York. Beautiful New York! It’s like being in one TV show; it 7) (look) _____ just a little bit familiar. I did every tourist thing you can think of when I 8) (not work) _____ and must have spent most of my salary on eating out.

So, then I 9) (transfer) _____ to L.A., which felt like a whole other country compared with the East Coast. I could definitely get used to that kind of outdoor, beach lifestyle, but I didn’t spend as much time getting to know California as I wanted because I 10) (fly) _____ to see Michael every other weekend. I’ll tell you more about Michael in my next email!

Hope to hear your news.

Eileen

The Boom of Social Networks

Today's grandparents are joining their grandchildren on social media, but the different generations' online habits couldn't be more different. In the UK the over 55's are joining Facebook in increasing numbers, meaning that they will soon be the site's biggest user group.

Sheila aged 59, says 'I joined to see what my grandchildren are doing, as my daughter posts videos and photos of them. It's a much better way to see what they are doing than waiting for letters and photos in the post. That's how we did it when I was a child.

Ironically, Sheila's grandchildren are less likely to use Facebook themselves. Children under 17 in the UK are leaving the site, but they are not going far from their smartphones. Chloe, aged 15, even sleeps with her phone because it is her alarm clock, so she has to look at it before she goes to sleep and as soon as she wakes up.

Unlike her grandmother's generation, Chloe's age group is spending so much time on their phones at home that they are missing out on spending time with their friends in real life. Sheila, on the other hand, has made contact with old friends from school she hadn't heard from in 40 years.

Teenagers might have their parents to thank for their smartphone and social media addiction as their parents were the early adopters of the smartphone. They used to be on their phones or laptops constantly so how could they tell their children to get off their phones if they were always in front of a screen? Some parents are now trying to spend more quality time with their children. Is it only a matter of time until the older generation and the younger generation catch up with the new trend for a less digital life?
