THAT'S AN IDIOM

I asked my parents for an iPad, and they said, "No way, It's too _____", so I asked how much I'd have to pay They said, "_____", and I was pretty bummed That is until I learned that that was just an idiom

An idiom is a phrase that doesn't make much sense, unless you heard it before and you knew what it meant. The words themselves could be used in a different way than what the person means when they use the phrase

Saying "You missed the boat" That's an idiom "_____ with one stone" That's an idiom Saying "Give it a shot" That's an idiom "Bull in a china shop" That's an idiom

When someone has _____, what does that really mean? That they lost their shoes, and their feet will freeze? "No!" These are cold feet of a different kind It means that they got _____, and they changed their mind

If we're in the _____, we don't have to be at sea. It just means you're in the same situation as me It's raining _____is something one might say, but all it really means is that there's lots of rain

"That's a _____" That's an idiom "I'm drawing a blank" That's an idiom "The cat's out of the bag" That's an idiom "We're gonna _____" That's an idiom

"Let's play it by ear" That's an idiom "_____" "It came out of the blue" That's an idiom "Have your cake and eat it too" That's an idiom "Barking up the wrong tree" That's an idiom "By the skin of your teeth" That's an idiom "We gotta _____" That's an idiom "Got bigger _____to fry" That's an idiom
