	a Market is a food hall, shopping mall, office building and on production facility located in the Chelsea neighborhood

Chelsea Market is a food hall, shopping mall, office building and television production facility located in the Chelsea neighborhood of Manhattan, in New York City. It was built in the former National Biscuit Company (Nabisco) factory where the complex produced. The Chelsea Market cookie invented and Oreo was and bounded by Ninth Tenth an entire city block and 15th and 16th Streets, with a connecting bridge over Tenth Avenue to the adjacent 85 Tenth Avenue building, which was also part of the Nabisco complex but is now separated. Nowadays, Chelsea Market provides standard office space for tenants, including media and broadcasting companies such as Oxygen Network, Food Network, MLB.com, EMI Music Publishing and the local New York City cable station NY1. Also, more recently, Google has moved into some of the second, third, and fourth floors along with its subsidiary YouTube on the fifth. Other shops include the Manhattan Fruit Exchange,
