

Ketagalan Culture Center

The Ketagalan Culture Center is a very special place to learn about the culture of the old, local Taiwanese people. The Ketagalan people lived in this area 400 years ago.

The Ketagalan Culture Center was built in 2002 and is a very tall building. It has 12 floors!

Tourists can see many kinds of art that the Ketagalan people made by hand.

You could even try on some of the clothes they wore.

Sometimes, tourists can see dancers perform some of the old traditional dances.

It is open from 9 am to 5 pm, and you can enter for free.
