

Complete the close activity by choosing words that effectively link the ideas together in this 3 Star event comparison.

both texts have a storyline, there are differences in many of the In the book, it is Mr Mantollini who makes the ice sculptures, it is Bronson's father in the movie. The also focuses on the Gribbles battles with the Twist family and Bronson's nightmares. These extra make the movie harder to follow. One event that is in the book and the movie is the Bronson's dislike of redheads and girls. The in the book makes it clear from the very first line that Bronson does not like redheads. A strong , hate, is used to how Bronson feels about redheads. The authors use of language captures the attention and creates . In the movie when Bronson's father mentions that Terry, a pretty girl with red hair, will be staying in Bronson's room; Bronson reacts negatively. the novel he makes his dislike clear. , initially it is only girls that he hates. The director uses a close-up of Bronson's expression to show this. He also gives him a high pitched, annoying voice. there are some differences, Bronson's dislike and anger in both texts builds . The book does this better . The book's use of strong figurative language is very effective the many different events in the movie only create confusion.