

Use the linkers given in the box to complete the story. A linker may be used more than once.

as if, but, who, when, which, so, while, that

A young doctor lived in a village in India.

One day the doctor told his friends an interesting story about himself and a cobra. It was a hot summer night. _____ he opened the door, he heard a sound _____ was well known to him.

He and rats shared the same room. There was no electricity in the house, _____ he took out a box of matches and lit a kerosene lamp. He took off his clothes and lay down _____ he could not sleep.

He got up from the bed and started reading a story-book. Near the table there was a mirror, _____ tempted him to look at himself.

He was not married _____ he was very particular about his handsomeness. He wanted to marry a woman doctor _____ worked in the same ward with him.

_____ he was having such thoughts, suddenly he felt _____ a rubber tube had fallen down from the ceiling _____ a large snake landed on his shoulder.

At that time the only thing he could do was to pray to God. The snake could bite him at any moment _____ suddenly it turned its head and started admiring its beauty in the mirror.

The doctor was thus saved.

